SOLICITORS

Possible additional charges: -

- Copy of additional documents from the Land Registry.
- If the property is leasehold or there is a Residents Association, the Landlord/Management Company may charge a fee for providing information about the property and which the buyer's solicitors will require in order to proceed. You should allow approximately £400 for this.
- Under the terms of the Lease/original Transfer Deed of the property a Deed of Covenant may be required, and the Landlord/Management Company will require a fee for attendance to this aspect of the conveyancing. We will also charge an additional fee for dealing with this aspect of the transaction.
- If the property is freehold and it transpires there is a Management Company/Residents Association/Rentcharge we will make an additional charge for attendance to matters arising from that and we estimate this to be £75.00 plus VAT
- If we are required to obtain copies of FENSA, Gas Safe certificates, NHBC documentation, planning/building regulation consents or other certificates that relate to the property that may have been misplaced the governing body/Local Authority will make a charge for providing the replacements/copies.

This estimate of our charges assumes that the transaction proceeds to a normal conclusion without any unforeseen complications. If it does not proceed to a completion, then a charge is made for the abortive work based on the work done and payments made at an hourly charging rate.
